Fear?
Questions?

Is it possible to turn devastating news into something beautiful?

Options?

Pregnancy interruption may not be what you wish to remember later in life.

Please don't let fear or heartbreak stop you from really thinking about all of your choices. Making the right decision for you and your baby can bring emotional peace in spite of pain.

Compassionate people want to help you get through this tough time, one step at a time.

Families experienced in dealing with special needs, wait for your call.

Help for you:

1. Family-to-Family support

Parents are willing to help and share with you in person, over the phone or by written correspondence. They have children with special needs similar to your baby's. Sharing honest, practical information and resources, they hope to give you courage to carry your special needs baby to term if you so choose. For over 14 years this has been their joy.

Call CHASK. They are willing to listen to your concerns right now and share a family with you.

2. What about entrusting your baby to another family?

If you are feeling you cannot parent your baby, there are hundreds of families willing to share their lives with your special needs child. Putting their trust in Jesus Christ, these parents do this out of love for you and your baby.

Please give us a call or go to our web site to read more about these families.

Who is CHASK?

Thousands of Christian families wait to help you.

Have you learned that your baby may be handicapped, have a medical problem, mild or severe?

These families know what is like to have a child with special needs. Please allow them to share with you. They are willing discuss topics such as:

- Carrying a baby to term with medical problems verses genetic termination.
- Raising a child with disabilities.
- How others may respond to you and your child with challenges.
- Entrusting your baby to another family to raise.
